강의목표	This course provides a comprehensive overview of the human resources function within the firm. Among the topics covered are: human resource planning, recruiting and selection, performance management, compensation management, career development, and the relevant public policy and legal issues that bear on these human resources decisions.
교과목 해설	Learning experience depends on personal participation and involvement. Sharing perceptions and ideas with others is central to learning. You will be expected to attend class, to have thought about class material and any assigned readings, and to contribute to the class by actively participating in discussions and exercises. Classes are three hours in length per week, and missing a class means that you will have missed a lot of material. Please email beforehand if you plan to be late, or if you cannot make it to class on a given day. 1. Define, discuss, and recognize important terminology, facts, concepts, principles, analytic techniques, and theories taught in this course. 2. Identify and apply appropriate terminology, facts, concepts, principles, analytic techniques, and theories from the organizational behavior course when analyzing factual situations with HRM problems. 3. Discuss the relevance and application of the concepts, principles, and theories used in HRM to contemporary events.₩ 4. Identify and discuss the interrelationships among the concepts, principles, and theories used in the different areas of HRM.
